President's Podium

This month the KCIFMA Board passed the balanced scorecard. In essence, the balanced scorecard closely mirrors the IFMA balanced scorecard, one of the questions judged on the Chapter of the Year Evaluation. Why do I bring up the Chapter of the Year? Because, with the members our chapter has, we have the ability to win the award in the future! The foundation and processes were set with past KCIFMA leadership, now we need to document our achievements and present them to IFMA.

Some of the key initiatives we have are to outreach to local colleges/universities, FM service providers, and outlying areas; provide the opportunity to use scholarship funding for CFM and FMP programs; use technology to start social networking and provide webinars; improve volunteer recognition; and maintain our financial strength. Each of these is a component to the Chapter of the Year questionnaire.

Over the next few months, Chris Gardner and I will be meeting with all committees to ensure that everyone fully understands the strategic objectives and associated initiative. The committees will then plan how to best meet the measures. We may also get feedback on some changes that are needed with the balanced scorecard.

Chapter of the Year

In addition, if there are any questions or comments about the balanced scorecard by any members feel free to contact me. It is important that the chapter as a whole supports the objectives, initiatives and measures of the balanced scorecard. Chapter support is the quickest and easiest path to Chapter of the Year.

How many mechanics does it take to screw in a light bulb? Three. A foreman to tell a mechanic, a mechanic to tell a helper, a helper to get his electrician friend to do the job on the side.
